Remove Labels from Glass Jars to Use as Food or Craft Storage

Jars can be reused for so many storage options: food, craft supplies, beauty items, etc. Learn how to easily get those stubborn labels off and upcycle your jars!

Reuse oatmeal container to organize your vanity

Oatmeal containers are perfect for organizing lotion bottles, deodorant, and brushes on your dresser or vanity.

A little bit of rope and hot glue go a long way! I've had these on my dresser for years. I love them!

I had a few Pothos plants in my home office that were getting too big. They were beginning to take over my desk and even starting to attach themselves to my wall for extra support! That gave me the idea to make a trellis to keep them contained. I had considered buying one for a split second, but that's not really my style. I had some old embroidery hops from a floral wreath craft project and decided that the circles would make a decorative trellis that could also be used as wall art. Read the whole post
